MOVE NOW MADE FOR LIFE SAVING EQUIPMENT HERE

Resolution in Senate Introduced on Same Day as Accident to F-4

By a strange coincidence, on the day the submarine F-4 went down off Honolulu harbor and before the tragedy was known outside navy circles, Senator James L. Cooke introduced in the upper legislative branch a measure, senate concurrent resolution No. 1 calling upon Congress to provide life-saving stations in the territory, particularly at Honolulu and Hilo.

At the present time there is no life-saving equipment in the islands that is worthy the name, and it is said that had such equipment been in existence the last two days it might have helped materially in bringing quick aid to the ill unfortunate men on the F-4.

Coke's resolution is as follows: "Whereas, there is a large amount of shipping at both Honolulu and Hilo in the Hawaiian Islands, and by reason thereof and the fishing and other industries carried on by water transportation, a large number of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands are exposed to the hazards of the sea; and

"Whereas, that on account of the lack of proper facilities for the protection of those engaged in sea transportation a great number of lives have in the past been sacrificed in the waters surrounding the harbors of Honolulu and Hilo; and

"Whereas, there is urgent need for the establishment of United States life-saving stations at said two harbors; now therefore, be it

Resolved, by the senate of the Territory of Hawaii, Session of 1915, the house of representatives concurring, that the Congress of the United States be and it hereby is petitioned and urged to pass such legislation as may be necessary to equip and establish United States life-saving stations at Honolulu on the island of Oahu and at Hilo on the island of Hawaii, Territory of Hawaii; and be it further

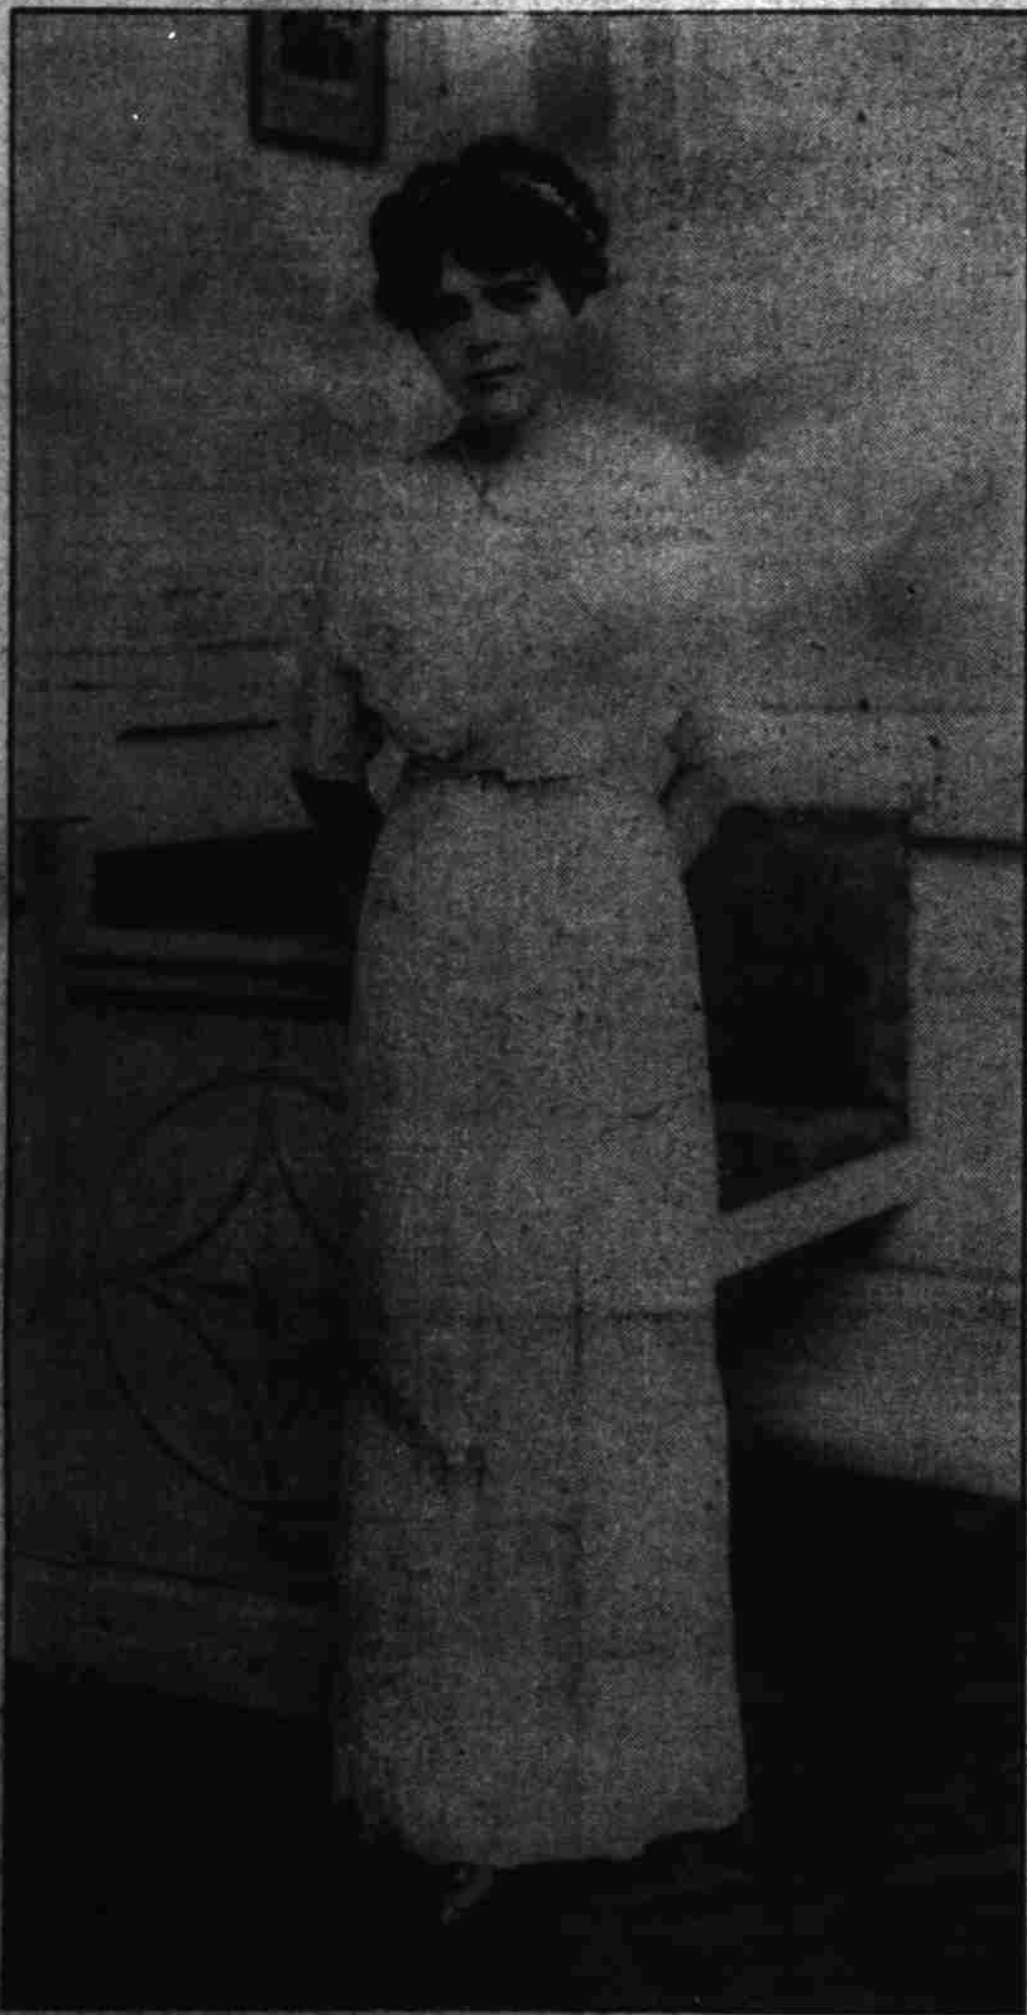

HONOLULU NURSES BUSY IN WAR ZONE

According to many letters received in Honolulu from local women who joined the Red Cross service in Europe, Miss Craig is in Belgium, Miss Jordan in France and Misses Gray and Hunter are in England nursing wounded East Indian soldiers.

Dissections and leave-taking in the Atlantic fleet are being, according to a report received at the navy department, in the Pacific fleet.

A bill giving relief to the navy was introduced in the New York senate.

WAR IN EUROPE MAKES POSSIBLE FELICE LYNE'S APPEARANCE HERE

FELICE LYNE

Ever since her super-sensational triumph in London in 1911, Felice Lyne's artistic career has been a veritable crescendo of triumph. In America as in England she has won rare distinction as an artist of the very front rank. Her voice can only be compared to that of Melba at its best, and her technical equipment is marvelous.

Miss Lyne is now in the middle west, completing the first lap of an extensive tour that will take her to the Pacific coast. From San Francisco the famous singer sails for Honolulu on March 30, appearing here in two concerts arranged for her.

Only the present war made Miss Lyne's appearance here possible. She had been engaged for a season of grand opera in Boston, but with the European outbreak came a suspension of the Boston season.

That Miss Lyne is as well equipped for the concert stage as she is for grand opera has been vouchsafed by the glorious tributes paid to her art by critics throughout the continent. Everywhere she has been acclaimed a worthy successor to Melba.

After her concert appearances in Honolulu, April 10 and 19, the youngest of present day song birds returns to her native country to fill the balance of the long list of engagements booked for her this season.

RUBBER PLANTATIONS IN MALAY PENINSULA MAKE STRONG SHOWING

A crop of 202,943 pounds of rubber with a net profit of $17,378.16 is the summary of the 1914 operations of the Tanjong Olok Rubber company, on the Malay peninsula. The report of the year's work was received here by the many local stockholders in the company.

The company has 550 acres of bearing rubber trees and 400 acres not yet in bearing. The average yield has been 350 pounds of dry rubber per acre. Net profits for the year were $17,378.16.

The report points with pride to the fact that the cost of tapping was reduced from $19,388.93 to $18,447.45 in 1914. The average price received was 46.645 cents a pound. The entire crop for the first half of 1915 has been sold at an average price of between 45 and 46 cents.

The Pahang Rubber company, also in the Malay peninsula, is reported in prosperous shape. The January output was 22,623 pounds as against 12,463 pounds in January of last year. February this year showed 18,600 pounds as against 12,661 in the same month last year.

COST OF REPAIRS TO PALI ROADWAY FIXED AT $24,000

At the regular meeting of the board of supervisors last night a resolution was adopted by which all resolutions calling for appropriations of county funds shall first be referred to the chairman of the ways and means committee who will present them at the following meeting of the board.

Engineer Whitehouse reported having made a survey of the Pali road to estimate the necessary repairs. He recommended improvement of 1000 feet of the steep road bed at a cost of $10,800. He proposed building a 6500-foot fence of concrete posts with wooden rails to replace the present rail. The cost of the fence, including the wall at the top of the Pali, he estimates at $13,100.

Whitehouse reported that the plans for the paving of Lusitana street from Pauca bridge to Alapai street were completed, but that the city would have to acquire four parcels of land before the work could be started.

The salary of Fred W. Beckley was raised to that paid the building inspector while he fills the duties of that office.

The secret service discovered a new $20 counterfeit gold certificate. It is of the series of 1908 and bears a portrait of Washington.
